EXPLANATION OF THE URSULINE

CREST

The dexter side is for St. Angela and the "special end" of the Order. The azure field speaks of justice, loyalty and beauty. The names of Jesus and Mary are self-explanatory. The fleur-de-lys indicate the spiritual and wholly virginal maternity of St. Angela's daughters with regard to souls.

The sinister side is for St. Ursula and for the Order as such. The silver field speaks of light and joy. The green and sturdy laurel tree speaks of victory and immortality. It sinks its roots firmly into the mountain of God, which is Holy Church, and grows there vigorously. The legend "Ursula Laurus" combines the idea of the patronage of St. Ursula and that of the Institute represented by the laurel tree. The two words are, in fact, the anagram of each other. The gold field indicates charity and the Holy Spirit hovering there "covers with his shadow" the growing laurel tree.

Crest - 1952

ST. URSULA ACADEMY

Dedication

To St. Ursula, girl-martyr of the fourth century, we - Christian maidens of the twentieth century - dedicate this, our 1951-'52 yearbook.

Princess Ursula of Britain died in defense of her purity. Following in her footsteps, may we ever cherish and guard this virtue - the shining emblem of Christian womanhood.

Down through the centuries many titles have been hers: "Celestial Lily", "Virgin-Martyr of Cologne", "Patroness of Schools and Universities". We are today carrying on this glorious tradition in honoring her name.

"St. Ursula and all your holy Companions, pray for us!"

Theme - 1952

The Ursuline Crest has a direct connection with school life at St. Ursula. It stamps our class rings, our yearbook covers, our commencement invitations and programs.

We have interpreted it in the following pages, as a symbol of the school year, 1951-'52.

The large star at the top is valiant Christian womanhood - our goal. The four points are the spheres of life in which she radiates influence - home, Church, school, and society. Below the star and reaching toward it is the five-pointed crown, which represents the faculty and four high school classes. Each is distinct, yet all are united into one crown, symbolizing the spirit of cooperation at St. Ursula.

The shield is a symbol of school activities. In the upper left corner the three fleur-de-lys represent the year's social events. The ellipse enclosing the inscription "IHS" symbolizes our spiritual activities in the light of eternity.

The right half of the escutcheon indicates our intellectual endeavors, all of them under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, represented by the dove.

At the base of the Crest is the beloved inscription - St. Ursula. The eight letters stand for the basic preparation received in the elementary grades.

And so the Crest gathers together every part of our school life. It stands as a mighty symbol for the goal we strive to attain. Eternity will tell whether we, St. Ursula students of 1952, reach it "cum gloria".

Class of '52

Class Officers

BETTY MANDERSCHIEDT, Treasurer
ANNE GRIEME, President
JEAN SINDENSCHMIDT, Vice President
CAROL ANN AHLERS, Secretary

ANNE GRIEME

Class President

A quiet smile is ever her greeting,
Talented speaker on Junior Town Meeting.

Class of '52

CAROL AHLERS

Carol is a clever, brown-eyed lass,
Who served as librarian for the class.

MARY CAROLE ALTEVERS

Speeches, cameras, and contests galore,
As Red Cross delegate she did even more.

CORINNE BERNING

Corinne--vice president of GAA,
An efficient girl in a quiet way.

Class of '52

CARLA BOEHM

SUA's Jolson, that's Carla, you know,
Lively and funny, she peps up the show.

MARY CAROL CANNON

Fair and blonde and such a dear;
So quiet, you seldom know she is near.

MARTHA CLEMENTS

At knitting and sewing Martha's a star,
In Catholic homemaking she'll surely go far.

Class of '52

SYLVIA COFFIN

Sylvia is quiet, slender and tall,
At Home Ec luncheons, hostess for all.

PATRICIA DIERSING

GAA president, Pat led us all right;
The famous first editor of SUA "Light".

MARY AGNES DONOVAN

This lass is Irish from head to her toes,
To DAV office work each day she goes.

Class of '52

JOY ERDMAN

A cheery giggle makes Joy a hit;
Her column "Gym Joys" showed sparkling wit.

ALICE GEERS

She struggled through math with determination,
The last of three sisters for graduation.

MARY GOEKE

Law is where her future lies,
She's tall and slim and very wise.

Class of '52

RITA GRESS

In sports and journalism Rita's supreme,
A nursing career is her cherished dream.

MILDRED HAIS

From Westwood Mimi had long, long rides;
Chic and pretty and smart besides.

MARY HEIDEL

She played "Old Rip" in English Three;
An office Christopher she wants to be.

Class of '52

EVELYN HENNEKES

You see a flash and then it leaves -
A basketball -- and Hennekes.

MARY ANN KORTE

Blue eyes, short hair, and slender height,
Italian spagehetti is her delight.

RUTH KUECHLY

As Parisian "bun-seller" she earned her fame,
"Beautiful doughnut" translates her name.

Class of '52

JEAN LINDENSCHMIDT

GAA manager and class V.P.
Dependable, cooperative - that's Jean,
you see.

BETTY MANDERSCHIEDT

Making rosaries has been her line,
Red-haired Betty gets along fine.

RUTH MILLER

From Kennedy Heights she rides each way,
Can laugh at a joke any time of the day.

Class of '52

BETTY NOPPENBERGER

With quiet good humor she totes films each week,
Helpful and loyal, Noppy's hard to beat!

MARY KAY RHOMBERG

She writes a script for every occasion
And leads the Sodality with gentle persuasion.

SUE RYAN

She draws and sews, does light-hearted Sue,
Skates on ice and takes pictures, too.

Class of '52

MARIANNE SCHILDMEYER

Versatile actress in the Variety Show,
"Dixie" and "Launcelot Lemmego"!

PATRICIA SORENSEN

Our SDS leader for modest style
Talented, artistic Pat with a smile.

NANCY PAT SOTTONG

The Gospel reader at Carols. She'll win
A place as the tallest and a twelve-year pin.

Class of '52

ARLENE WEIS

A quiet miss, yet when bowling you see
A player with skill and vivacity.

MARY WELZ

In sports and tap her small feet fly,
Her busy fingers argyles ply!

GAIL WILLIAMSON

A winsome girl with cashmeres galore,
Nearest of all to XU's door.

We, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen, are preparing for Christian womanhood by leading the lives of Christian students now. Each year adds another point to our crown. The star on top is ever shining before us, beckoning us on to our goal . . .

Elementary

The eight letters of the inscription, "St. Ursula", stand for the basic preparation received in the eight elementary grades. Last, but not least, the tiny period represents our youngest class, the Kindergarten. Like a seed, it too, will grow into a sturdy laurel tree of learning, as it advances, step by step, through the eight letters of "St. Ursula."
